PRESIDENT TALKS TWICE AT "SOO"

Favors Power Development on St. Mary's River.

INSPECTS GREAT CANAL LOCKS

Being Almost in Canada and an Election Close at Hand, He Absolutely Refuses to Talk on Reciprocity.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Sept. 20.—When Governor Chase Osborn of Michigan arose at the luncheon given President Taft and thanked the people of Sault Ste. Marie for their applause, he said:

"I accept this kindly demonstration as an indication of your approval of my friendship for and my support of the great president of the United States."

This city gave Mr. Taft a warm reception. First they took him for a trip around the city and the school children welcomed him to town in a mass meeting on the lake front. Then Mr. Taft was taken to lunch with some hundred prominent citizens of the town. In his address at the luncheon, the first delivered here, he confined himself to the purely local subject of water power. This is the greatest local issue in the Soo. They attempted a great waterworks here some years ago and most of the principal citizens of the town invested money in the project. It failed and since then the Soo has been looking for water development. Mr. Taft told them that it they would send a committee down to Washington he would see that the war department would take the question up and attempt to reach a final settlement which would permit a use of the water of St. Mary's river, which is now going to waste, but which if utilized would be sufficient to boost Sault Ste. Marie to a city of at least 100,000 people. No discussion of political issues could have brought Mr. Taft into the hearts of the people of the Soo as rapidly and certainly as this offer did. They applauded him at every mention of the subject and his reception grew noticeably warmer after he had entered into this question.

They tried again to have Mr. Taft talk about reciprocity. He came with an inch of doing so, despite his statements at Syracuse and Detroit that he would not mention this question until it was settled in Canada. He said:

"You have Fort Brady and you have a battalion of troops there. Do you think that battalion is there for the purpose of resisting attacks on your Canadian border? Major Cloman and his men are doughty warriors. I know, but if that were the purpose we should attempt to build forts and put an army here worthy of the name. On the contrary that 4,000 miles of border has now no forts. We have no battlefields. There is nothing there to mark the difference between the two countries save some custom houses and some natural boundaries. Now that presents an example that might well commend itself to all countries and all nations."

"I am not going to talk about reciprocity because we have decided on our side that 'Barkis is willing' and on the other side the question is sub judice, and I have sufficient sense of propriety to say nothing on the subject, but merely to say that I am in a state of prayer and hope."

After luncheon the president was driven about the canal locks, through which more tonnage passes than through the Suez canal. The president then reviewed the troops at Fort Brady. He left for Marquette, Mich., at 5:25 p. m.

SENATORIAL STRIFE

WAXES WARM IN SOUTHERN TERRITORY

San Antonio, Texas, Sept. 16.—Since Senator Bailey announced his determination not to stand for re-election, the senatorial bee has been very active and many heads have appeared above the surface who were never thought of before as senatorial possibilities. While the junior senator is being sued in the state supreme court here by Abraham Schultz, sixteen years old. He alleges that he was injured by being run over by her automobile and asks $2,000 damages.

Lightning Destroys Church.

Braintree, Ill., Sept. 20.—The Catholic church in this city was struck by lightning and totally destroyed by fire. The loss, estimated at $20,000, was covered by $7,500 insurance.

WILL TAKE 2600-MILE
TRIP WITH DOG TEAM

Spokane, Wash., Sept. 19.—Twenty-six hundred miles by dog team from the Arctic ocean via the MacKenzie river to Spokane, is a trip to be undertaken the coming winter by E. S. Dowling of Spokane, who is prospecting on the delta of the northern stream and along the shore of the sea. Writing from Fort McPherson Dowling says in a letter to acquaintances in this city: "There have been but few white men over these arctic wilds, and those who have made the trip have told so little that the lay reader has not even the remotest idea of what it all means. From the beginning at Athabasca Landing, Alberta, Canada, the trip is full of thrilling experiences, which cannot be told in a letter of ordinary length. It would require a book of many pages of text and illustrations to do justice to the subject. I have arranged to pass several years in prospecting, but if all goes well I shall make the trip to Spokane with my dogs and sleds during the winter." Dowling gives no indication of his success or failure in finding ground of value in the far northern district.

The Curse!

Politics is the curse of the country. If it had not been for political agitators, on both sides of Mason and Dixon's line, seeking notoriety and public office, we should not have had the terrible Civil War of 1860, with all its frightful cost of life and property. If it had not been for selfish demagogues seeking to boost themselves into public notice, we should not have had the setback to prosperity that followed the free-silver craze. And now, if it were not for bogus "uplifters" and reformers who insist on "busting" our corporations and "smashing" our railroads, the prosperity of the country would be at high tide.

The stalwart politicians of our earliest days were bad enough, but the new breed disguised as "progressives," with a very few notable exceptions, are much worse. The former, it may be true, were bred in the market-places of politics; but the latter are the by-product of academies and universities, living witnesses to the truth of the old adage, "A little learning is a dangerous thing." Constituting a blatant gang of political hermaphrodites, without ability to command success, they are satisfied to achieve notoriety by proclaiming a platform of "Rule or Ruin." Thus they secure a following among the ignorant, the selfish, the envious and the discontented, of which we have too many in every community.

It is of no consequence to such if contented people are made discontented, if prosperity is imperiled, if wages are reduced, factories closed and panic is invited. The demagogues, muck-rakers and political upstarts have never lived by the sweat of their brows, but only by working their jaws and playing on human credulity.

Out with them, one and all! Back with Prosperity!

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY.

Kisses Family; Cuts Throat.
Cadillac, Mich., Sept. 20.—Amos Carpenter, forty-five years old, living at Cleon, a few miles from this city, cut his throat from ear to ear. No motive is known for the deed. Just before going to the barn Carpenter kissed his wife fondly and went into a bedroom where four of his children were sleeping and kissed them all.

Old Man Buried in Gravel.
Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 20.—Under twenty-five feet of gravel, Louis Dudley, seventy-four years old, was caught in a cave-in in a local gravel pit and buried. A large rock against which his body was carried saved his life, allowing an air channel to be formed until he could be dug out. His only injury was a broken leg.

Wants Fight for New Orleans.
Cadillac, Mich., Sept. 20.—Frank Mulkern of Milwaukee wired Wolgast an offer of 50 per cent of the receipts for a fight with Packey McFarland at New Orleans within the next month. Owing to the fact that Wolgast is quite ill with grip, he had to decline and says he will not take on any dates for two months.

Ann Arbor Bunker's Wife Taken.
Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 20.—Mrs. Jessie Booth, wife of William J. Booth, president of the State Savings bank of this city, died at her home here from acute indigestion, death coming very unexpectedly, though she had been in poor health for two years. A husband and one sister survive.

May Lose Other Eye Now.
Owosso, Mich., Sept. 20.—Orrie Varco, an Owosso township farmer, lost one eye years ago. Yesterday as he was harnessing a mustang the animal kicked him in the face, breaking his nose and causing injuries to the other eye which, it is feared, will result in total blindness.

Dies While on Visit.
Battle Creek, Mich., Sept. 20.—Judge Marshall L. Stephens of Helena, Ark., a former member of the supreme court of that state, died here while visiting Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Hoffmaster, relatives. He was here on a vacation and his heart failed him.

Baby Dies in Mother's Arms.
Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 20.—When Mrs. Alvin Feltch awoke in the morning she noticed her three-month-old baby looked queer, and taking the child in her arms she discovered the little one just breathing its last. Heart disease was the cause of death.

SPLENDID SHOWING OF FALL MILLINERYYPSILANTI MILLINERS ARE PREPARED FOR FORMAL OPENINGS WITH LARGE
VARIETY OF SELECT PATTERNS

For several seasons, milliners have been confronted with an assortment of styles which did not please the popular fancy.

Now it begins to look as though the milliners' troubles are over. This fall the hats are not extreme, nor overly expensive and look well on the head. A wide variety of neat styles and shades will be shown at the Ypsilanti millinery parlors this season and all are preparing for a splendid opening Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

It is the consensus of opinion that never before has there been such a decided change between spring and fall shapes, as well as between last fall and this.

It is probable that the old joke about the street cars not being large enough for the fashionable hats will die a natural death this fall. At least there is every indication that the large ones, for Paris is running mad over small shapes. However, there will be quite as much material used as before because the crowns make up in height what they lose in width.

The trimmings are usually gorgeous. Bulgarian effects in vivid blues, greens and reds are shown in fancy bandings, and there is a regular rage for beaded effects in fringes and ornaments. Eastern splendor will prevail—Egyptian, Assyrian, Byzantine and Syrian patterns being eagerly copied and imitated.

The colors that will be most popular is question much discussed. There is a promising demand for Corbeau shades come next in the demand for velours, and when trimmed with a natural bird of Paradise, give wonderfully beautiful effects.

The Cayenne (or Paprika) shade is looked upon with great favor because it is so warm and harmonious with more brilliant decorations, such as the Poinsettia, and with wings in which red is introduced.

Feather butterflies give great promise of another season's popularity.

Those with brilliant bodies, either solid red or variegated, with wings of white or mottled, are most frequently seen.

Many beautiful iridescent silks have been brought out this season, and both double faced silks and satins are shown. Coarse and fine ribbed ottomans, rapp silks and bengaline are in demand and fancy brocades and damasks show all the lustrous blending of the Orient on their shimmering surfaces.

ent indications count for anything. They are seen in all the shades and are used with facings of black, white and grey, as well as two-color effects. Laces are seen on a great many hats and add to the rich appearance of hats in the beautiful colors I have enumerated.

Quills will be a feature of the season. They are shown in very attractive colors. The most favored novelty in this line is a green and brown quill on which a variety of colors have been painted in little strokes in a very promiscuous manner, crossing at any or all angles.

The Egyptian ornaments are apparently the most favored. Few large ornaments are seen.

There will be great quantities of white foliage, fruit and flowers used during the fall, and this may run into the winter as the brilliance of many colors will be enhanced by the contrast.

Claret, violet and morning glory tints are being featured in Paris.

The very latest in collapsible hats is the Pierrot cone in dull beige, gray or bronze colored leather.

Wing effects frequently reach the height of twenty inches.

Solid bands of peacock, quinea fowl and other small pasted feathers are used with twists of velvet and ribbon rosettes.

Bonnet and poke shapes are plentiful this season.

Tam O'Shanter shapes are immensely becoming to youthful faces.

The Mother Hubbard or Mother Goose hat is a quaint conceit, also intended for young faces.

Entire hats made of coarse, woolen yarns promise some popularity.

Putty color is a great favorite for early hats.

Bayadere-striped taffeta ribbon imprinted with a blurred Chine design is a novelty of the season.

Uncut velvet ribbon, striped in gold and black, and faced with gold cloth, is a new fall novelty.

Knife pleated frills of maline adorn coquettish cone shaped creations in Paris. The East Indian turban is the favorite of the moment. High crowns prevail in the majority of shapes.

The fad for the Berrette will probably lead to a revival of flat iron crowns later.

Every style of bonnet seems fashionable. Trimmings of worsted look good for the entire season.

Velvets and velours are the favored materials.

Changeable silks are in for a long run.

Tall, stick-up effects are seen in ornaments of all kinds, feathers and flowers.

Rich brocades are seen in ribbons and piece goods.

Wing effects are extremely popular.

Soft, dull parchment shades slightly tinged with greens, blues and reds are well liked.

Rich Irish laces are much used for brims or whole hats.

You Take No Risk

Our Reputation and Money is Back of This Offer.

We pay for all the medicine used during the trial, if our remedy fails to completely relieve you of constipation. You take all the risk. You are not obliged to us in any way whatever, if you accept our offer. Could anything be more fair for you? Is there any reason why you should hesitate to put our claims to a practical test?

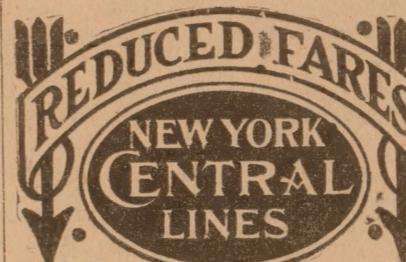

The most scientific, common-sense treatment is Rexall Orderlies, which are eaten like candy. They are very pronounced, gentle and pleasant in action, and particularly agreeable in every way. They do not cause diarrhea, nausea, flatulences, griping or any inconvenience whatever. Rexall Orderlies are particularly good for children, aged and delicate persons. We urge you to try Rexall Orderlies at our risk. Three sizes, 10c, 25c and 50c. Remember, you can get Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store—Weinmann-Matthews Co., 118 Congress St.
